

Hello!

We open our newsletter with some very exciting news! We are over the moon to announce that Amazing People Schools has been awarded the Teach Primary Wellbeing Award 2023. Following on from winning the Teach Secondary Award in 2020, the team at Amazing People Schools are delighted that the judges recognised how using our stories and resources provides a sound basis for supporting mental health and wellbeing in schools.

We are a small team who are dedicated to helping support schools to nurture the next generation of Amazing People and being recognised for this award means the world to us.

If your school is interested in developing its students' mental health and wellbeing with a strength-powered approach, check out our most recent live Virtual Soccer Schools session that took place on World Mental Health Day in October. Find out why Premier League footballer Antonee 'Jedi' Robinson told an audience of over 1000 schoolchildren that kindness should be everyone's default setting.

Kindness is such an important strength for students to recognise, identify with and develop. So important in fact we thought, to celebrate our award win and World Kindness Day on November 13, we'd like to share an extra special treat with our newsletter subscribers. Check out our new resources section below to download our 'Strengths of the Heart' assembly to show your students how strengths including kindness can be developed.

HeadteacherChat: School values – we have all that worked out...right?

Positive school values, ethos and climate are all essential for behaviour and for providing young people with the framework they need for life. Selena chatted to Lucy and Jonathan at HeadteacherChat live on Twitter Spaces (click the image to listen). Read her blog about the subject and discover how your school can ensure your values permeate the fabric of the school.

Celebrating Differences

3 December marks the International Day of the Disabled Person. Our blog, written by our EDI consultant Danise Grant, explores how 'differences' can be delicately raised, celebrated, and discussed with pupils from a young age so that when students encounter someone 'different', it is not scary, intimidating, or strange, but exactly the opposite – dare we say, "the norm". This blog includes a link to our Diverse Voices resource 'Amazing Disabled People'.

News from our Schools

Welcome to Holy Rosary Primary School

Holy Rosary Primary joined our Amazing People Schools community after seeing a presentation at a Blue Cow supplier evening. They have become more multicultural as a school and are looking to embed inspirational people across the whole curriculum. They loved to see the wide range of characters displayed in the Amazing People Library along with all the linked resources.

Amazing People Day - Frodsham CE Primary School

We were delighted when Frodsham Primary told us they were planning on holding an Amazing People Day in October to fundraise for their school subscription, we knew we'd have to include it in our newsletter so all our subscribers could see the incredible effort the students went to!

All the children chose a role model to dress up as – what an inspiring and fun day it was. The children held a thought-provoking assembly, explaining what they had learned about their Amazing People and how they used their character strengths. Watch out for our upcoming blog with all the incredible images of the day. Thank you Frodsham!! (Photos via Twitter/ @FrodshamCE).

Celebrate some Amazing People this Month

Aneurin (Nye) Bevan born 15 November 1897

Aneurin (Nye) Bevan

Born into a poor family in Wales, he overcame many obstacles to become a leading figure in British politics.

The NHS was launched in 1948, which resulted in free healthcare for every man, woman and child in Britain.

Despite suffering from a stammer, Nye Bevan has been described as one of the greatest ever parliamentary speakers.

Many institutions bear his name, including The Aneurin Bevan University Health Board, and Ysbyty Aneurin Bevan Hospital.

Mary Seacole born 23 November 1805

Mary Seacole

As a British-Jamaican nurse in the 1800s, Mary Seacole's leadership and courage paved the way for diversity in nursing in the UK.

Named 'greatest black Briton' in a survey in 2004, to celebrate the UK's black heritage, Mary Seacole stood against prejudices and discrimination against all the odds.

A statue of Mary Seacole is sited at St Thomas' Hospital in London. It was unveiled in 2016.

The Mary Seacole Trust promotes Mary Seacole as a source of inspiration for a fair, diverse, and inclusive society.
